

Promises Huntsman Made at Its 2016 Investor Day Regarding 2017 Adjusted EBITDA Also Failed to Materialize

Huntsman spun-off its TiO2 business in mid-2017, and unfortunately, even after benefitting from a $125 million commodity price spike, the core business ended 2017 below the Company's 2016 Investor Day Adjusted EBITDA target.

2017 Actual Core Adjusted EBITDA vs. 2016 Investor Day Target

"...we benefited this past quarter from a continued spike in our component MDI. We said in our third quarter call that we believe we benefited by approximately $40 million of extra margin due to this temporary spike...We believe that the fourth quarter benefited by approximately $85 million due to these constraints. We believe that these one-off conditions will abate..."

On a normalized basis, Huntsman made no progress towards its $1.3 billion Adjusted EBITDA target over two years

Huntsman failed to achieve its 2016 Investor Day Adjusted EBITDA target.

Source: Public company filings, transcripts, and presentations. (1) Huntsman sold its European differentiated surfactants business to Innospec on December 30, 2016. The business contributed $28 million of EBITDA in 2016 per the Company's Q4 2017 8-K filing, which is calculated as the difference between Adjusted EBITDA and pro forma Adjusted EBITDA as disclosed on page 6 of the filing. As a result, because the Company $1,300 million Adjusted EBITDA target had been set before the divestiture of the European differentiated surfactants business, we reduce the target by $28 million. (2) Pro forma for spin-off of Pigments business and sale of European differentiated surfactants business as disclosed in the appendix of the Q4 2017 earnings presentation.

This Is a Company That Is Quick to Make Promises, Yet Has Repeatedly Failed to Deliver

The Company hosted three investor days prior to 2021 – one in 2014, 2016, and 2018. At each investor day, the Company repeatedly made commitments to shareholders but ultimately failed to deliver.

Summary of Past Investor Day Commitments and Actual Results

Investor Day	Commitment	Achieved?
March 2014	Achieve $2.0 billion of Adjusted EBITDA over the next 2 – 3 years.	FAILED
March 2016	Achieve $1.3 billion of Adjusted EBITDA in the core business by 2017.	FAILED
May 2018	Improve share price to ~$60 per share by 2020. ⁽¹⁾	FAILED

Huntsman made new promises at three consecutive investor days, and each time, failed to deliver.

We Believe This Track Record of Missed Promises Explains the Company's Stock Price Underperformance

Prior to hosting its 2021 Investor Day, the Company had presented Adjusted EBITDA targets to shareholders at three consecutive Investor Days (2014, 2016, and 2018), and failed to deliver on all three targets.

The Company failed to deliver on Adjusted EBITDA commitments from three consecutive investor days.

We then apply a 10% growth rate over three years, consistent with management targets in the Company's 2018 Investor Day presentation.

In November 2021, the Company Hosted Yet Another Investor Day and Made Even More Promises to Shareholders

In November 2021, the Company hosted an Investor Day, again committed to improving financial performance, and expressed confidence that the Company would finally be able to deliver on its commitments.

“We're very excited, and I feel more confident today than I ever have about the future. I know that's something that everybody always says. But why do I feel that, I feel that because we have more control of these issues...there are going to be headwinds here and there. But what we can control, what we're focused on as a company, and what we're able to do, I think, puts us in a unique opportunity to further transform this business.”
