

Frustratingly, the Company's 2016 Investor Day Target Was Lower Than What Had Been Promised In 2014

Setting TiO2 aside, in 2016, Huntsman's new Adjusted EBITDA target for its core business was 9% lower than what the Company had promised during its 2014 Investor Day.

Comparison of 2014 vs. 2016 Investor Day Adjusted EBITDA Target For Core Business

For the non-TiO2 core business, Huntsman not only lowered its Adjusted EBITDA target between the 2014 and 2016 Investor Days, but the new target only implied a 6% CAGR from 2015 to 2017.

However, Management Promised That Ex-TiO₂, the Company Would Generate Record Results in FY 2016

Among many claims made before, during, and after the 2016 Investor Day, the Company told shareholders that its core business was poised to deliver a record Adjusted EBITDA margin and above GDP growth in 2016.

Summary of Management Statements Regarding 2016 Adjusted EBITDA

February 2016

“If we look at our business without our existing TiO₂ division, we would be looking at 2016 as a record year for...EBITDA margins, a materially different and stronger company than we what we have today. Obviously, the conclusion of this separation is a very high priority for this company.”

Peter Huntsman, President & CEO

March 2016

“And if we were a business today that we're separated from our TiO₂, we would be going into 2016 saying...2016 will be a record EBITDA margin year in the history of this company.”

Peter Huntsman, President & CEO

April 2016

“I've said this many times before, there's nothing fundamentally wrong with the TiO₂ industry as much as this is a business that when you start looking at the core performance, if you look at Huntsman without TiO₂, we would be going into 2016 here...with some of the highest margins we've ever had in our history and with better than GDP growth.”

Peter Huntsman, President & CEO

The Company repeatedly told shareholders that its core business would produce record margins in 2016.

Unfortunately, the Record Profitability Promised By the Company For 2016 Did Not Materialize

Adjusted EBITDA margins in the Company's core business regressed between 2015 and 2016.

The Company did not generate record profitability in its core business in 2016.

Unfortunately, the Above GDP Growth Promised By the Company For 2016 Did Not Materialize Either

Shortly after its 2016 Investor Day, the Company also publicly stated that its core business would generate above GDP growth. This also failed to come to fruition.

Huntsman Claimed Its Core Business Would Grow Faster Than GDP in 2016

“I’ve said this many times before, there’s nothing fundamentally wrong with the TiO₂ industry as much as this is a business that when you start looking at the core performance, if you look at Huntsman without TiO₂, we would be going into 2016 here...with some of the highest margins we’ve ever had in our history and with better than GDP growth.”

2015 – 2016 GDP Growth: 2%⁽²⁾

All of the Company’s core businesses FAILED to generate above GDP growth in 2016

The Company’s core business did not generate above GDP growth in 2016, and in fact, all businesses declined.

Promises Huntsman Made at Its 2016 Investor Day Regarding 2017 Adjusted EBITDA Also Failed to Materialize

Huntsman spun-off its TiO₂ business in mid-2017, and unfortunately, even after benefitting from a $125 million commodity price spike, the core business ended 2017 below the Company's 2016 Investor Day Adjusted EBITDA target.

2017 Actual Core Adjusted EBITDA vs. 2016 Investor Day Target

"...we benefited this past quarter from a continued spike in our component MDI. We said in our third quarter call that we believe we benefited by approximately $40 million of extra margin due to this temporary spike...We believe that the fourth quarter benefited by approximately $85 million due to these constraints. We believe that these one-off conditions will abate..."

On a normalized basis, Huntsman made no progress towards its $1.3 billion Adjusted EBITDA target over two years

Huntsman failed to achieve its 2016 Investor Day Adjusted EBITDA target.

The business contributed $28 million of EBITDA in 2016 per the Company's Q4 2017 8-K filing, which is calculated as the difference between Adjusted EBITDA and pro forma Adjusted EBITDA as disclosed on page 6 of the filing. As a result, because the Company $1,300 million Adjusted EBITDA target had been set before the divestiture of the European differentiated surfactants business, we reduce the target by $28 million. (2) Pro forma for spin-off of Pigments business and sale of European differentiated surfactants business as disclosed in the appendix of the Q4 2017 earnings presentation.

This Is a Company That Is Quick to Make Promises, Yet Has Repeatedly Failed to Deliver

The Company hosted three investor days prior to 2021 – one in 2014, 2016, and 2018. At each investor day, the Company repeatedly made commitments to shareholders but ultimately failed to deliver.

Summary of Past Investor Day Commitments and Actual Results

Investor Day	Commitment	Achieved?
March 2014	Achieve $2.0 billion of Adjusted EBITDA over the next 2 – 3 years.	FAILED
March 2016	Achieve $1.3 billion of Adjusted EBITDA in the core business by 2017.	FAILED
May 2018	Improve share price to ~$60 per share by 2020. ⁽¹⁾	FAILED

Huntsman made new promises at three consecutive investor days, and each time, failed to deliver.

The Company committed to improving share price by at least $27 per share by 2020, which implied a 2020 target share price of approximately $60 per share by December 31, 2020.

We Believe This Track Record of Missed Promises Explains the Company's Stock Price Underperformance

Prior to hosting its 2021 Investor Day, the Company had presented Adjusted EBITDA targets to shareholders at three consecutive Investor Days (2014, 2016, and 2018), and failed to deliver on all three targets.

We then apply a 10% growth rate over three years, consistent with management targets in the Company's 2018 Investor Day presentation.

In November 2021, the Company Hosted Yet Another Investor Day and Made Even More Promises to Shareholders

In November 2021, the Company hosted an Investor Day, again committed to improving financial performance, and expressed confidence that the Company would finally be able to deliver on its commitments.

“We're very excited, and I feel more confident today than I ever have about the future. I know that's something that everybody always says. But why do I feel that, I feel that because we have more control of these issues...there are going to be headwinds here and there. But what we can control, what we're focused on as a company, and what we're able to do, I think, puts us in a unique opportunity to further transform this business.”
